Family & Children’s Programs

Recovery and healing are most effective when the family is involved in recovery. Through their involvement, families begin to understand the dynamics of the disease and its path for treatment.

Family Program

The purpose of the Family Program is:

- To educate family and mental health professionals about addiction and how it affects relationships
- To empower family members to define their own needs and initiate their own recovery process
- To learn how to support loved ones in truly helpful ways as they continue in recovery

Children’s Program

Pavillon believes that children and teens equipped with knowledge and awareness about the devastating impact of drugs and alcohol will make better life choices. That is why Pavillon has taken an active role in supporting children and teens affected by addiction.
